It would be well for the being in Hongkong, then appearing that they provided a charter equally good with any other charter offered, the preference was to be given to them. The plaintiffs nontend that the true menning of the clause is that the defendants were only to have the preference in case the charter-party was contracted in Hongkong; that this charter-party was made in New York, and that the clause does not apply. It is for the get to decide what the meaning of the slanse o: it will bear other interpretation. It is admitted that if the ship had left Hongkong seeking that the commission would not be payable, or if she had left upable to obtain a argo and had practically terminated the charter party. It must be remembered that the charter party was made by the captain in Hamburg, and bis evidence shows that he clearly contemplated house was burnt down, and no fatalities ocobtaining an outward Charter "in Houghong," which as I understand the words, means while he thip was in Hongtong. There was at one time some thoughter of building guns of 160 tons, that is, double the But on the calculations and quantities being taken out it was seen that a gun of mehen lous, and hymetreds. 200 tone could be made in the came time and at very little extra cost than one of 160. It is understood that the only question ramaining open is whether it would not be better to make six guns of 160 tons instead of four of 299. The intended 200 ton gun will have a length of as nearly as possible fifty feet. The Spezzis gun is within a few inches short of forty fest, and the diameter of nearly nine feet at ite bass. The length of its bore is 33 feet, and with u charge of nearly 4001bs, of powder it can throw s conical abot of 2,500lbs. a distance of nine miles. The Haglish gan will have a bore of 45 feet, its diameter will be 21 inches, and with a obarge of 9501bs, of powder is is enfoulated that it will throw a contral-headed bolt five feet long, weighing almost 6,000 lbs. (21 tons), a distance of twelve miles. With the bollow shot, loaded as a shell, it will take 300 lbs. of powder, and in fact be a flying mine of the most terrible description where it strikes. Only the work books of the Argenal can show the almost indefinite number of processes which guns of this immense magnitude have to pass through. The heating, re-heating, welding, and re-welding, the turning of the coils, and, when turned, shrinking them on while red-bot over other coils, all go to make opench a maze of labour, if one may so call it, as would make the description of it, if given in figures look like the ratures. of the quarterly revenue. A fair specimen of the difficulties to be overcome with these huge guns was given in, the heating and welding of the great coul which has to cover the breech of the last of the 80-ton wans as yet ordered. It was a white and almost melting roll of coils: weighing 50 tone. When the furnace door was opened nearly everyone save the gase-bardened workmen was almost blinded by its glare. The serew-longs used to drag the mass forth was hearly 60 feet long and weighed 25 tons, and every description of Coats was manipulated in all its various powers of serews and chains and cranes by 60 men. within what locked like the laws of it, the ham-like a giant whetting his teeth and waiting for coil was under it and besten into shape, and when this was done men working with Iron levers behind light wrought from shields overturned the seething mass, which was again hammered on the outer oircumference into its proper form. This last breech coil for an 80-ton gan will mean a coil of 120 tons for a 200 ton one. It gamnet, therefore, he a matter of much surprise that the large piece of ordnance will take two years to make, when it is remom-bered that after some of such of these processes the mass takes nearly two weeks to cool before it can be turned in the lather.
